Fair Housing: Hot Topics and Perennial Concerns for Long-Term Care Providers

Cory Kallheim
Vice President, Legal Affairs and Social Accountability
LeadingAge

Long-term care and housing providers need to be familiar with Fair Housing laws and how to address the myriad of issues that may arise with residents that implicate Fair Housing issues. This webinar will provide an overview of Fair Housing laws, protected classes, and reasonable accommodation requests as well as explore recent enforcement actions and court cases.

Common situations staff face will be reviewed with discussion on how best to respond. Situations reviewed will include:

- Admissions issues and what you can and cannot ask residents or prospective residents.
- Responding to reasonable accommodation requests.
- Addressing requests for assistance and service animals.

Isolation, Trauma and Exhaustion: Recovery for Caregivers and Those We Serve

Eric H. Berko, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist
Berko Psychological Associates

In this interactive session, we will explore the impact of the past two years as a traumatic event. Anyone involved in the care of older adults during the COVID-19 Pandemic has been on the front lines of an ever-evolving, complex, politically divisive and exhausting process. Participants will gain understanding of their experience during the pandemic in the context of the psychological literature on trauma. Participants will learn coping strategies for themselves and those they serve. Join us to share stories, support each other, and learn together to create a better tomorrow.
